ABOUT ME

Results-driven Data Scientist skilled in Python, data analysis, machine learning, and data visualization. I specialize in turning raw data into actionable insights to drive smarter decisions and solve real-world business problems. Currently an AS Level Cambridge student with strong foundations in Computer Science, Mathematics, and Physics, I deliver clean, efficient, and scalable solutions — from automating workflows to building predictive models.Clients value my precision, clear communication, and speed of delivery, as well as my commitment to quality and measurable impact. Constantly updating my skill set, I ensure every project leverages the latest tools and techniques for maximum efficiency and competitiveness.
